THE DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

...O material which Dodd never has been discovered has effected greater benefits in the household economy than

...is a labor saving invention as well as an invalu... remedy in every family. Dead, weak hair, scurf and pi... Dandruff is removed from the head, the teeth cleaned and enamel, plate and jewelry cleaned, stains effectually removed from carpets, furniture, oil cloth, pant... or marble with the greatest facility and without the least material. It is a great saving of time and labor in washing lines, as the soil is removed with the water, which leaves in the case of cotton or linen without fulling or shrinking. These important objects can be effected without injury to skin or the most delicate fabric. It possesses no deleterious qualities whatever. The world is challenged to produce a soap which possesses so many valuable properties and which is so economical and safe. It is a home invention, and defies competition in any part of the world. It has become a necessity. It must be found in all respectable family grocery stores, and eventually will extend over the Yankee States, Utah and Nevada territories, Africa and Japan. It is manufactured solely by C. F. McGILMSEY, Memphis, Tenn., to whom all orders should be addressed. Family grocery agents wanted. The proprietor is determined that as manufacture all keep pace with the rapidly extending demand for its use.

THE DAILY AVALANCHE.

There were eighty-four cases of smallpox in Chicago last month.

General Schofield leaves Richmond Saturday, on a visit to West Point, New York.

Stanton was in consultation with General Grant, at the War Department, Wednesday.

It yearly costs the citizens of New York $240,000 to keep the Central Park in order.

During the imprisonment of Major McCardle, the Vicksburg Times will be edited by S. D. McVernon, Esq.

Senator Guthrie's health has improved, and he expects to take his seat in the Senate this winter

Nine new applications for voluntary bankruptcy at the Court of the Register, held in Meridian, Mississippi, last week.

Murdoch, at the solicitation of General Grant, will give readings in Washington, for the benefit of the Soldiers' Widows' and Orphans' Home.

Lindsay, a negro orator and delegate elect to the Virginia Convention, has been arrested in Richmond, and is to be tried by military commission for making seditious speeches.

W. G. Clark, Esq., City Printer of Mobile, and one of the proprietors of the Register and Advertiser, has been removed by order of General Pope.

The census returns of Iowa are now complete, with the exception of four counties, which show a population, thus far, of 898,194 —a gain of 149,000 in two years.

The President says the result of the recent elections has but "confirmed his faith in the people, who were always sure, sooner or later, to come around all right."

Mr. James T. Brady, the eminent New York lawyer, it is said, will volunteer for the defense of Surratt, on account of the expulsion of Mr. Bradley from the bar.

Henry C. Jarrett arrived at New York yesterday, from Europe, with forty new members of the ballet troupe, who will shortly appear in the spectacle of "Undine," at Crosby's Opera House, Chicago.

Ex-Governor Vance, of North Carolina, was the first lawyer of note who addressed a colored jury in the Second Military District, impaneled under General Canby's order.

It is reported in a New York paper that a man in Tarrytown had his neck dislocated recently, but it was immediately reset by a surgeon, and he is now considered out of danger.

The advices purporting to come from the city of Mexico, announcing the arrival of N. P. Banks in that city, have no foundation in fact. General Banks is at home, in Waltham, Massachusetts.

M'lle Louise Billon is the latest attraction at Niblo's, New York city. She is said to be the best dancer ever seen in America, throwing even the Moriaschi, of Banvard's, into the shade.

The President revoked the order of Stanton dismissing Colonel Belger, of Baltimore, from the service. Belger was tried by general court martial and honorably acquitted. Notwithstanding this acquittal Stanton, without warrant of law, dismissed him.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer urges the selection of Cleveland as the place to hold the next Democratic National Convention. It says that prominent gentlemen there agree to erect a temple to be used by the Convention in its session.

There is reason to believe that Queen Victoria has resolved to emerge from the comparative seclusion in which she has lived for so long a period, and that the next session of Parliament will be one of the most brilliant on record during her reign.

There was a considerable fall of snow on the Erie road, between Elmira and Salamanca, New York, on Wednesday morning last, and the whole surrounding country was covered with the mantle of winter to the depth of two or three inches.

At the reception of William Lloyd Garrison, in Leeds, England, the company was reminded that Mr. Garrison considered the emancipation of the negro worth the "rivers of blood and mountains of debt" which were the cost at which it had been purchased.

Charley Gallagher, who was recently defeated by William M. Davis, near Detroit, has challenged his opponent for another "mill." He offers to put up $1,000 to Davis' $5. These are heavy odds for a man who was whipped.

Failing to check whisky frauds by seizure and confiscation of a lot of illicitly distilled liquor occasionally, the authorities at Washington have determined hereafter to institute criminal prosecutions against violators of the law, besides forfeiting the property.

The Government officers recently seized about three thousand barrels of high wines at Hennepin, Illinois, for attempting to defraud the Government. The name of the parties owning the spirits have not transpired. The value of the property seized is about three hundred thousand dollars.

The United States flag flying over the grounds of the Agricultural College near Lexington, Kentucky, was stolen last Saturday night, and was subsequently found on the street, with the following paper pinned to it: "No Negro Bureau flag shall float over the Agricultural College while I am a student of the same. A Lover of Right."

General Sherman is expected in Washington to-day. The announcement is accompanied with an assurance that his business at the capital relates entirely to Indian affairs. Some of the Conservatives threaten to "demonstrate" on the occasion, with a view to bringing the General on the track for the Presidential race.

The New Orleans Times says: "A secret negotiation, with the object of effecting a thorough organization of the Conservative strength in the whole country is now taking place. The platform will fully sustain the President's policy. It is asserted that General Grant will accept the Presidential nomination of the new party, if it is tendered to him."

A Richmond dispatch says the Commonwealth's Attorney, in opening the quarterly term of the Hustings Court, called the attention of the grand jury to the incendiary speeches that have been made by Hunnicutt and his set, as palpable violations of the laws of the State, and witnesses were summoned before the grand jury to testify as to the nature of these harangues, with a view to the indictment of the parties.

The Roman Catholics of London are about to erect the finest cathedral in Europe, save, perhaps, St. Peter's at Rome. One feature is to be that priests of every nation and language are to be constantly stationed at this cathedral, for the purpose of hearing confessions and preaching to foreigners in their native tongues.

District Attorney Chandler had another interview with the Attorney General to-day, about the trial of Jeff. Davis. The result has not transpired, but it is certain the case will not be tried this term, unless Judge Chase can make it convenient to preside. Hon. Wm. Evarts and B. H. Dana, senior counsel for the prosecution, will certainly never consent that a creature so morally perverse and intellectually weak as Underwood is shall sit alone, and make a farce of a case which involves such intricate and momentous questions. There are reasons for believing the trial will be deferred for a short time, but will take place during the present term.

A sprightly writer expresses his opinion of old maids in the following manner: "I am inclined to think that many of the satirical aspersions cast upon old maids tell more to their credit than is generally imagined. Is a woman remarkably neat in her person? She will certainly be an old maid.' Is she particularly reserved toward the other sex? 'She has all the squeamishness of an old maid.' Is she frugal in her expenses and exact in her domestic concerns? 'She is cut out for an old maid.' And if she is humane to the animals about her, nothing can save her from the appellation of an 'old maid.' In short, I have always found that neatness, modesty, economy and humanity are the never-failing characteristics of that terrible creature—'old maid.'"

OSCULATORY ANECDOTES.

Instances of Distinguished Kissing in the Past.

When the Cardinal John of Lorraine was presented to the Duchess of Savoy, she gave him her hand to kiss, greatly to the indignation of the irate churchman. "How, madam," exclaimed he, "am I to be treated in this manner? I kiss the queen, my mistress, and shall I not kiss you, who are only a duchess?" and without more ado he, despite the resistance of the proud little Portuguese princess, kissed her thrice on the mouth before he released her, with an exultant laugh. The doughty Cardinal was apparently of one mind with Sheiden, who thought "to kiss ladies' hands after their life, as some do, is like the little boys who, after they eat the pie, fall to the paring." When Charles II was making his triumphal progress through England, certain country ladies who were presented to him, instead of kissing the royal hands, in their simplicity held up their pretty lips to be kissed by the king—a blunder no one would more willingly excuse than the red-haired lover of pretty Nell Gwynn. Another poet, the countryman of Chaucer, had, two centuries later, the honor of being publicly kissed in the stage-box by the young and lovely Countess de Villars; but in Voltaire's case, the lady gave the ceremony a meaning not of her own free will, but in obedience to the commands of the clamors in the pit, mad with enthusiasm for the poet's "Metope."

Georgiana, Duchess of Devonshire, as our readers will remember, gave Steele, the butcher, a kiss for his vote, nearly a century since, and another equally beautiful woman, Jane, Duchess of Gordon, recruited her regiment in a similar manner. Duncan Mackenzie, a veteran of Waterloo, died at Elgin, Scotland, in 1866. He delighted in relating how he kissed the Duchess in taking the shilling from between her teeth to become one of her regiment—the Gordon Highlanders, better known as the Ninety-second. The old Scottish veteran of eighty-seven has left one behind him to tell the same tale about kissing the fair-eyed Duchess in the market place of Dufuli.

The late Daniel O'Connell hit upon a novel mode of securing votes for the candidate he had named at a certain election, which test, considering the constitutional temperament of his countrymen, is said to have proved effectual. He said, in reference to the unfortunate elector who should vote against them, "Let no man speak to him; let no woman salute him."

Gilbert Stuart, the portrait painter, is said to have once met a lady in the street who had been so accosted in him with, "Ah! Mr. Stuart, I have just seen your likeness, and kissed it because it was so much like you." "And did it kiss you in return?" "Why, no," replied the gallant painter, "it was not like me."

Some of our readers, who are not so young as they have been, may remember the famous Yankee kiss, and kiss of the last King of England before he came to his estate. While in New York the Prince called at a barber's shop to be shaved. When the operation was completed he stepped up to the barber's wife, who chanced to be present, and, giving her a kiss, remarked: "There, now you can say you have been kissed by a member of the royal family." The barber, greatly incensed by what he chose to receive as an insult, seized the Prince, and, lolping him out of the shop with his foot, exclaimed, "There, now you can say you have received a royal kick from an American freeman."

Chevalier Bunsen, who rose from an humble position in life to great honor, was a man of vast savoir, but little erudition. As a theologian, the character to which he most aspired, he was severely criticised. It is said that Dr. Merle D'Aubigne. Those two savans met at Berlin, at the Evangelican Alliance, held several years ago. Bunsen kissed Merle; of course the polite Genevan could but return the compliment. Great was the ado about it. Subscriptions were opened in Havana for the relief of the sufferers of St. Thomas. The loss of the steamship company at 80 Thomas amounted to $1,000,000. Some five hundred bodies remaining unburned have been buried on the island.

News has been received from the Republic of Hayti up to the 26 instant. The news is important, as it shows that the cause of General Montes, now confined in a dungeon at Cape Haytien, has become universally popular, probably owing to the reaction in public sentiment caused by the recent riotous proceedings at Port au Prince against the members of the House of Assembly. Upon demanding of the Government its reasons for keeping him confined unconstitutionally and without the benefit of a trial, a court martial was ordered to assemble instanter for his trial, on the charge of having headed a revolt. The leading Gerfardites have been expelled.

Advices from Venezuela to the 25th ultimo have been received. The revolution had been quelled, and the insurgents pardoned. A new cabinet had been formed.

AUGUSTA, November 15—The election on the question of a convention is quietly progressing in Florida. There is no doubt but the convention will be carried by a large majority, as the whites are indifferent. Dispatches from Tallahassee say the election is going on quietly, and there are very few votes against the convention, the whites generally declining to vote. About three hundred freedmen passed through here en route to Charleston, to take passage on the ship Golconda, for Liberia.

The Herald's Montgomery special says that in the Alabama convention yesterday, an ordinance was introduced to confiscate a part of the Alabama and Mississippi River railroad for the use of the common schools. It was made an order for next Thursday. An ordinance was also offered that all debts contracted prior to 1861 are recoverable, except those accruing from the sale of slaves.

The discussion on the franchise question was postponed till Monday week, the extremists having determined to settle the question in party caucus, from which the moderate men are to be excluded.

A resolution was adopted favoring the passage of an ordinance giving freedmen a full equivalent for their services from those persons who held them in slavery after January 1st, 1865.

NEW YORK, November 15—The Herald's special Naples correspondent of the 16th says that Mount Vesuvius, on the east side of the bay of Naples, is now in volcanic action and sending forth a pillar of fire, which produces a magnificent sight as seen from the city. New craters have been formed, and the new point of issue is in latitude 40° 49' north and longitude 14° 26' east. Last night red hot stones were ejected in large quantities from the burning mountain. The surrounding earth is in tremulous motion for a considerable distance, and lava is pouring forth and running down the sides of the mountain at a rapid flow. The mineral upheaving from the volcano gives warning of a grand eruption.

A Herald's Havana special says advices from Porto Rico to the 7th inst. have been received. A terrible hurricane had visited the Southern portion of the island, destroying all the crops. Two hundred lives were lost, and four thousand families are destitute. Provisions are to be landed duty free for two months.

Tortola, one of the small British West India islands, below Virgin Goods and St. Johns, containing an area of forty-eight square miles has been completely submerged by the flood following upon the great gale of the 7th inst., and it is reported that ten thousand lives have been lost. Subscriptions were opened in Havana for the relief of the sufferers of St. Thomas. The loss of the steamship company at 80 Thomas amounted to $1,000,000. Some five hundred bodies remaining unburned have been buried on the island.

Advices from Venezuela to the 25th ultimo have been received. The revolution had been quelled, and the insurgents pardoned. A new cabinet had been formed.

AUGUSTA, November 15—The election on the question of a convention is quietly progressing in Florida. There is no doubt but the convention will be carried by a large majority, as the whites are indifferent. Dispatches from Tallahassee say the election is going on quietly, and there are very few votes against the convention, the whites generally declining to vote. About three hundred freedmen passed through here en route to Charleston, to take passage on the ship Golconda, for Liberia.

The Herald's Montgomery special says that in the Alabama convention yesterday, an ordinance was introduced to confiscate a part of the Alabama and Mississippi River railroad for the use of the common schools. It was made an order for next Thursday. An ordinance was also offered that all debts contracted prior to 1861 are recoverable, except those accruing from the sale of slaves.

The discussion on the franchise question was postponed till Monday week, the extremists having determined to settle the question in party caucus, from which the moderate men are to be excluded.

A resolution was adopted favoring the passage of an ordinance giving freedmen a full equivalent for their services from those persons who held them in slavery after January 1st, 1865.

Power of a Railroad King.

The power exercised by strong capitalists through railroad corporations is strikingly depicted by a New York correspondent of the London News. The letter says:

A great capitalist like Vanderbilt or Stewart, if he takes a fancy to railroad management, buys a line up, and becomes at one stroke almost as influential as an English duke. In fact, Vanderbilt has within the last seven years afforded a striking foretaste of the influence which these great corporations may yet exert upon American society. He bought up some five years ago nearly all the stock of the Harlem road, one hundred and fifty miles long, running through one of the richest agricultural regions in the North, between this city and Albany, put his sons and sons-in-law in the various offices of the road, and now manages it as he sees fit. He next did the same thing to the Hudson River railroad, running between the same places, but along the banks of the Hudson river, thus controlling the only two great lines of communication between the commercial and political capital of the State. Within the present year he has done the same thing with regard to the New York Central, so that over three great lines of communication of this State, about 700 miles long in all, his word is law. He is in great part proprietor of them. His relatives and dependents fill all the important offices on their boards. He has made them pay him what they pay to no less a party than kings—a private fortune, and let the public know just as little about the details of his management as about those of the management of his farms. If there is any chance of the Legislature interfering with him, he sends up his trusty parliamentary agent, and the obnoxious bill, though much debated, somehow makes slow progress, and at the close of the session falls still-born. In England Vanderbilt would have bought himself an estate, and he and his two sons would have devoted themselves to politics. He would have sat in the house himself, or have returned or kept out other members.

A Novel Dress Reform Society.

The Vienna papers say that a new secret society has been established in that city for the purpose of suppressing the long trains now worn by the Viennese ladies, which, according to the circular issued by the society, "are not only an obstruction to street traffic, but also by raising enormous clouds of dust cause considerable danger to the lungs and eyes." The statutes of the society define its objects to be the abolition of crinolines, and the introduction of short dresses, and its members bind themselves, the instant they perceive a lady with a long train in the street, immediately to tread on the same with such force as to produce a considerable rent in the dress. It is also provided that this should be done as if by accident, and that a thousand apologies should be offered to the lady for the awkwardness alleged to be the cause of the damage. If, notwithstanding this, compensation is claimed and awarded by a court of justice, all expenses to be paid out of the funds of the society.

Widowsand their Weeds.

A fashion correspondent thinks that under the present reign of fashion the spiritual part of mourning is being completely forgotten by widows. Their dresses are of the deepest-toned black, it is true, but their jet ornaments are as flashing as the flame when coal is kindled. The wide necklaces of black polished stones, cut lance-shaped or in pyramids, linked by chains all round their snowy throats, the same glitter as diadems in their ears. So much sparkle is devoid of calm, subdued widowhood, and what makes the matter worse is, that they dye their hair as golden as chemical preparations can make it. So much incendiary mourning is to such a degree combustible that a lady, while lately admiring a lovely creature in the glory of widowhood, expressed her unfeigned pleasure by saying that such a toilette was enough to make a wife look forward to her husband's funeral with comfort.

SATURDAY, : : : : NOVEMBER 16, 1867

LET us suppose that the Radical programme is carried out, and that the Southern States are admitted into the Union. Held down by bayonets, the people of the South submit to negro rule. CUFFEE and POMPEY and CÆSAR become Senators and Representatives in Congress, and Governors of our States. What a glorious thing it will then be to be called an American citizen! What excellent laws these sable brethren of THAD. STEVENS and CHARLES SUMNER will make! What unbrown found jurisprudence, what magnificent statesmanship will be exhibited by the fellow citizens of BEN. WADE and WILLIAM G. BROWNLOW! If these humiliating terms are forced upon the descendants of WASHINGTON and JACKSON and JEFFERSON and SUMTER and PINCKNEY, we do most earnestly hope that BROWNLOW will be made to sit "chuck by jowl" with Senator POMPEY, from the once glorious Palmetto State. We hope that Beast BUTLER will be the roommate of Senator SCIPIO, from Louisiana, and that Washington Congressional society will have aunt DINAH at its head. Not that we have any special hate of the negro, but we want these people to have their fill of them. We desire to see the people that have dictated the most humiliating terms to the conquered ever known to history, themselves enjoy the full fruition of their policy. What fearful times are in the not distant future we pretend not to augur. We know this, that there is no truth in history if the intellect, morals, learning and integrity of the South submit to this rule without a struggle. We know there is no truth in the Bible if the fanatics are not now fighting against God. We know that God designed the Caucasian race to have dominion. It must govern. Mind must rule. Ignorance and bestiality must yield to integrity, virtue and intelligence. For Truth to reassert her empire and re-establish her dominion, may require time and labor; it may demand prudence and patience, and it may cost blood and treasure; but truth is eternal, and must and will conquer. God is ever consistent with Himself. He made the negro for a subordinate position. This is shown in every characteristic belonging to him. His inferior brain; his subserviency to the white race; his loyalty to his master; his felt necessity of a master; his peculiar physical organization; his progress in slavery; his decay in freedom—all show him to have been created for a position subordinate to the white man. God declares the same great truth in His Word: "Cursed be CANAAN; a servant of servants shall he be to his brethren. Blessed be the Lord God of SHEM; and CANAAN shall be his servant. God shall enlarge JAPHET, and he shall dwell in the tents of SHEM, and CANAAN shall be his servant." These words are from the lips of Eternal Truth. The American Indian is the descendant of SHEM. The negro has been made his servant. We are the descendents of JAPHET, and now in Memphis we are occupying the places—huts—once occupied by the posterity of SHEM. While we were occupying the tents of SHEM, CANAAN was our servant. JAPHET is enlarged. All Europe is pouring thousands of the sons of JAPHET into this American continent. God is true; true in nature; true in the Bible. Truth will rise. Connecticut proclaims it and California resolves it. It comes pealing from the Keystone State, and New York takes up the sublime strain, and with forty thousand free voices makes the welkin ring with, "Let God be true and every man a liar." Vox populi, vox Dei—the voice of the, people, the voice of God. Will not Radicalism, foul with infidelity, reeking with miscegenation, and sending forth the fetted odors of the pit, now hide its brazen front and seek a grave so deep and dark that no awakening voice can ever reach it. We hope so. We call upon the true men of the North to dig the grave deep. Here is our hope. We hear again the slogan of time honored Democracy. Our ears are regaled by the notes of victory, as they come sweeping over hill and valley, and swell in their deafening peals from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Let this work of death be stopped. It is death to civilization, death to literature, death to peace and death to religion. Let Radicalism go on with its infidelity, with its impious blasphemy, and its infamous violation of every principle of constitutional liberty, and no pen can describe nor imagination conceive the terrible woes that must fall on this land. Woes shall come over the people whose hands are now uplifted against God, the magnitude of which shall exceed anything recorded by the muse of history. When the new CESARS and POMPEYS become the successors of JEFFERSON and CLAY, of MADISON and POLK, then indeed may "ICHABOD, thy glory is departed!" be written on all our walls.

THERE is a voiceless eloquence in the dust on the rules of our country that calls us to think more profoundly and act more wisely than we have ever done heretofore during the existence of the Republic. In the destroyed homesteads and deserted fields of the South, there can be found a wealth of competence, health and happiness such as no other avenue of life furnishes. These fields are already cleared, and are vastly more fertile than they primarily were, when the pioneers of this great agricultural section cleared them of the forest, and evoked from their bosom the rich products for which our section is notable. Now the land is idle and unemployed. Stretches of many miles of untouched lands are seen along our railroads and lines of rivers. The husbandmen have wrecked their genius and exhausted their patience in futile attempts at working them after the most unscientific and unremunerative manner, and disgusted with their failure, they have abandoned their mines of wealth and contentment, and sought the cities, in whose exciting whirl of business cares and gaming ventures, they find themselves quickly bankrupted in every respect. Thus it seems that our cities now contain a much greater number of merchants, etc., of every class, than they can support, and it is with a view to abate this evil, and recover our country to a prosperous condition again, that we tender the following advice. The large farms of our country must be divided into small and convenient tracts, that can be easily cultivated. These must be given to purchasers at low rates and tenants on any terms. The proprietors can retain enough to make themselves comfortable for life on the income and increased value of their improved neighborhood. The city will be benefited by the enlarged population, from whose trade and presence we may expect a greatly improved condition in business and trade. To this system for improving lands, the numerous beautiful inland cities of the North largely owe their growth and importance. Every community there is settled as thickly as the vicinity can support, but usually generally are not only laborious, but usually contented, and succeed to competency by a wise system of economy and well directed labor. That this country can be blessed in the same manner is indisputable, and in the agricultural improvement of our county is our only safety and recovery. White labor is the resort which we must invoke, and it is the duty of our people to secure and use it exclusively. To this end immigration must be courted and earnestly fostered. Agricultural associations will do wisely to take a liberal and comprehensive view of this feature, and work laboriously to consummate so desirable a condition, that promises so many advantages. There is another view, to which we refer because the argument should be promptly and fearlessly answered. The present main evil that our people are subjected to is the illegal and destructive legislation of the law making power. If the people will show a tithe of the moral and physical courage they exhibited during the early days of the last election to the pack of cowards in the capitol at Nashville—and who are now trembling and shaking over the results of the late Northern elections—powerful by our moral force, we can cause a change in their infamous sentiments, and make the knaves soon change their tone.

It is stated that one of the newspapers of Washington has an obituary notice of Hon. Thad Stevens in type, several columns in length. As a witty writer puts it, "isn't that just a little previous?"

Hon. Edmund Cooper, of Tennessee, lately a member of Congress, and at present private secretary of the President, is to succeed Hon. William A. Chandler as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Thurlow Weed's paper is severe on Ben Wade. It says he "evidently enjoys hearing himself talk as much as did Toots in writing letters to Toots. As to what he says, however, 'it's of no consequence.'"

In Russia there is a fanatical religious sect called the Saviour, the members of which think it necessary to constantly implore the mercy of the Saviour by every means, for it is he alone can save them. Not long since one of these devotees killed his own son and offered him up as a sacrifice to God.

Wm. M. Evarts, R. H. Dana and General Wells, counsel for the prosecution, and District Attorney Chandler, of Eastern Virginia, had a consultation of several hours with the Attorney General, Stanbery, with regard to the course to be pursued on the trial of Jefferson Davis. All the gentlemen are ready to proceed with the case on the 25th.

Lakeman, the enthusiastic Democrat of Lynn, Massachusetts, whose salute of a hundred guns in honor of the Democratic victories in Ohio and Pennsylvania, in October, was stopped on the fifty-third gun by the City Marshal, fired the remainder Wednesday evening, for the results of November in Massachusetts and New York. The city authorities didn't interfere.

A clergyman in the neighborhood of Ilminster, England, issued a kind of edict to his parishioners, the other day, ordering them to continue Kneeling after each service, while he left the church for the vestry. Many of them declined to do so, and, among others, a young man whose seat happened to lie in the clergyman's way to the vestry. The reverend gentleman convinced him of the error of his way by a smack in his face—a Christian act of chastisement which is to be investigated at the next petty sessions of the district.

The New Albany Ledger, of the 13th, says: "On Monday night a young woman, whose name we are asked to suppress, lately arrived in this city city from Tennessee, took a large quantity of laudanum for the purpose of stilling the beating of her heart. The dose was too heavy to produce death. She is being cared for by kind friends. The act was the result of poverty and low spirits. Formerly the young lady moved in the best circles of society, and had all the indulgence that wealth could bestow. But the war swept away her father's wealth; he was killed in the Confederate army, and she is reduced to poverty."

The proprietor announces that during the session of the Kentucky Legislature he will issue the Yeoman as a daily, under the editorial control of Colonel J. Stoddard Johnston.

The Springfield (Massachusetts) Republican says: "All personal and political friends of Senator Sumner will leap with pleasure of Mrs. Sumner's return from Europe, and of the honorable restoration of their domestic harmony and the reopening of their hospitable home in Washington. Doubtless gossip has exaggerated the character and causes of their temporary separation, and her sudden flight to Europe; but it is one of the inevitable inconveniences of marrying a man high in public life, that the wife cannot indulge in the disciplinary privileges of the sex, and enjoy the luxuries of a domestic discord, without 'its getting into the papers.' It is enough now that love and harmony reign again."

The New York Tribune reminds all persons entitled to relief under the Bankrupt act, that the fifty per cent. clause will come into operation on the second of March next, and only a little over one hundred working days remain before the time in which they can claim exemption. In all proceedings commenced after the second of March, the thirty-third section of the law provides that "no discharge shall be granted to a debtor whose assets do not pay fifty per cent. of the claims against his estate, unless the assent in writing of a majority in number and value of his creditors, who have proved their claims, is filed in the case at or before the time of application for the discharge.

BY TELEGRAPH

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, November 15.

Attorney General Stanbery is out with an opinion, presumed unofficial, as it appears as a communication in a newspaper, instead of being addressed to the President, on the additional session of the Fortieth Congress. After quoting the provisions of the Constitution for the meeting of Congress, the article says that the act of January, 1867, does not change or interfere with any of the meetings fixed by the Constitution, and all sessions of the Fortieth Congress held prior to the first Monday in December, except such as are convened by the President, are irregular. It is true the time for which the members are elected as Senators and Representatives begins and is dated on the 4th of March, but that does not affect the time fixed for the regular annual session to begin. A new Congress cannot meet under the Constitutional provisions before the first Monday in December, unless convened by the President; hence, unless Congress, by law, appoints a different day for such regular annual session there can be no Constitutional meeting of Congress before the first Monday in December, and any meeting in the intervening period would be an extra session, and can only be called by the President, on an extraordinary occasion demanding it, of which he is to be the judge. The Constitution does not anywhere in any other way providede for any other than a regular session of Congress. It does not authorize Congress to provide for an additional meeting, but simply gives it power to change the day for such regular meeting from the first Monday in December, by appointing a different day. There is a first and second session of each Congress; and the meeting of a new Congress, commencing before the time fixed by the Constitution for it to assemble in regular legislative session, cannot be legalised by calling it an additional session, or additional meeting. The Attorney General goes on to say that the thirty-ninth Congress had no power to pass the act of January 22, 1867, otherwise it had the power not only to convene an extra, but also to create an extraordinary session for it, in controvention of the powers of the President.

The article concludes as follows: The present meeting of Congress is not an adjourned meeting of the regular session of March 4, 1867, which, as has been shown, was not a regular session. It was a new and extraordinary meeting, created by the act of January 22, 1867, in addition to the present regular time of meeting of Congress as designed by the Constitution. The act expressly so designated it "as not additional to any regular meeting of the Thirty-ninth Congress," for that Congress expired on March 4, 1867, nor was it additional to any regular meeting of the Fortieth Congress, for the Fortieth Congress has yet held no such regular session. It is not even yet fully organized by the session of March, 1867, and its adjourned meeting constitutes an extraordinary session of the Fortieth Congress, created and convened by the act of January 22, 1867. The time will return for a review of its acts and proceedings, and he would suggest the time now acting under these provisions of that act, if not too late, to pause and consider the very questionable constitutionality and comprehend the precedent they are establishing, or change the line fixed by the Constitution for the regular meeting of Congress by appointing a different day therefor than the first Monday in December every year.

It is learned that the arguments contained in this opinion are substantially the same as set forth by the Attorney General, in a cabinet meeting, when the subject of sending in the President's message and documents to Congress was under consideration.

The Secretary of State has referred to the Attorney General a new and interesting question arising under the emaucipation amendment to the Constitution. The British vessel recently brought into Key West three black sailors, whereupon the local authorities indicted him under the State law, which prohibits the immigration of free negroes. The captain appealed to Mr. Ford, Charge D'Affaires for Great Britain, who immediately addressed a note to Secretary Seward, pending any action in the proceedings against the British captain, which have been stopped.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, November 15.

The Republican says that returns from little more than half of the counties in the State of Mississippi show that 9,000 more than a majority of the persons registered have voted on the convention question, and says that the remaining counties will increase the majority, as in some of the counties the opponents of the convention voted, and in some parts of the State which have been heard from, the unreconstructed voters stayed away from the polls. Only one Conservative delegate is known to be elected. Among those who took the stump in favor of the convention was the Hon. A. G. Brown, ex-United States Senator, and General Alcorn, Senator elect. The Vicksburg Republican advocates the disfranchisement of those who did not vote. The Times denounces General Mower's appointment of R. King Cutler to the Bench of the Second District Court. Cutler is denounced and ridiculed by the entire press.

NEW YORK.

It appears that the Atlantic Cable company, under the new tariff regulations, make no extra charge for messages in code, consisting of plain words, but messages in cipher—that is to say, messages in numerals or letters of the alphabet, not being known or dictionary words, or names of places, persons, ships, etc., are to be charged, for the first ten ciphers or letters, $25, and for each additional cipher or letter $2 50.

A CHANCE FOR MANUFACTURERS.

WE wish to sell ONE-HALF INTEREST in our valuable WATER POWER, situated on Cane's creek, four miles north of Florence, Alabama, consisting of Foundry, Machine Shop, Blacksmith Shop, Saw and Grist Mills.

This establishment has been in operation for over twenty years, and has at all times before the war not been able to supply the demand for work.

The establishment is driven by water and a twenty-horse steam engine. There is in the Machine department a lathe, three trip planers, three upright drills, and all necessary fixtures for manufacturing.

The stock of pattern cannot be surpassed in the South. There is about one thousand acres of land belonging to the property, all of very unusual fertility. We will sell on easy terms in order to enlarge the business in other branches of manufacturing, as the location and advantages presented at this place demand more extensive improvements than we are able to supply.

Capitalists wishing to invest in a profitable enterprise of this kind, will address the undersigned at Florence, Alabama.

GALLAWAY, BEEA & CLENDET.

ANDREW JACKSON.—An individual calling himself Andrew Jackson, was taken by officer Orr before a magistrate on a charge of stealing chickens.

St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church; services in the Criminal Court room, Greenlaw building. Preaching to-morrow at 11 a.m., by the pastor, Reverend F. A. Mason. Sabbath school at three p.m.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—The Municipal Court adjourned till to-day, on account of the illness of Judge Waldran. His illness, however, is not of such a nature as to create any apprehensions of danger.

NO BOND.—A Deputy Constable yesterday attempted to levy on some goods, when he was resisted by a lawyer, on the grounds that the Constable was not under bonds. A fight ensued, and on being separated, both were satisfied.

FREEDMAN'S SCHOOLS.—The total number of freedmen's schools in Tennessee, as reported by the Bureau's Superintendent, for October, is 120. There are 125 teachers and 3,712 scholars. The total cost of these schools is $ 5,877 10.

GREENLAW OPERA HOUSE—MATINEE POSTPONED.—In consequence of this being the last day of the races, the "Tale of Enchantment" matinee, which was advertised to take place to-day, has been postponed until Saturday, the 23d.

RESISTED.—Deputy Sheriff Langford yesterday called at the store of A. L. Hench, to serve a writ on him. When that gentleman resisted, thereby provoking an attack from the Deputy, which resulted in a few blows and the serving of the writ.

CONFIDENCE GAME.—Colonel Beaumont night before last had two men, named R. H. Paine and H. A. Harrison, arrested at the Greenlaw Opera House, for playing a confidence game on an unsophisticated old man, whom they mulcted in the sum of nine hundred dollars.

NICOLSON PAVEMENT ON FIRE.—Some of the tar on an unfinished section of the Nicolson pavement at the corner of Main and Monroe streets, became ignited yesterday forenoon. Quite a blaze and a dense smoke was the consequence. The workmen soon smothered the flame with sand, but not before a large crowd had been attracted to the spot.

M. T. GARVIN.—M. T. Garvin & Co. have just opened a new grocery house at No. 226 and 228 Second street. In looking around we saw a large and well selected stock of groceries and produce, which will be offered on the most favorable terms. Mr. Garvin is well known to the business men of Memphis and the people of this vicinity, and we doubt not will meet with the greatest success at his new location. Read his advertisement in another column.

ADMIRAL SEMMES.—Admiral Semmes, the brave old commander of the Alabama, has been lecturing in the Star State, which is his special stamping ground, and now, we learn, proposes to give a series of lectures in Mississippi, on the first cruise of the Alabama, from her outfit at the Azores to the northeastern coasts of the United States, embracing a foray of four weeks against the enemy's commerce. This gallant naval officer of the "lost cause" should meet with the reception his fame deserves, wherever he may go.

LINDAUER, ARNOLD & CO.—Messrs. Lindauer, Arnold & Co., are determined not to be behind in the dry goods business, and have determined to put their goods down lower than anybody. They have an immense stock, and being desirous of retiring from the dry goods business, are offering superior inducements in order to close out the sale. They do not advertise what they will not do. The goods are there, and will be sold regardless of cost. Give them a call. Their advertisement appears in our columns this morning. Read it.

FOR LIVERPOOL.—The first class British steamship Propontis, two thousand tons burthen, will load at Norfolk, Virginia, for Liverpool direct about the 25th instant. Messrs. G. Falls & Co., of this city, will send freight to Norfolk by railroad, making no charge for cartage of these goods, and do commissions for forwarding. The Propontis will take cotton at New York rates, which are to-day three-fourths of a cent per pound on compress cotton. Call on Messrs. G. Falls & Co., and inquire about the Propontis.

PRESENTATION.—We noticed at the book store of C. C. Cleaves & Co. an elegantly bound Bible, heavily ornamented with the following inscription in gold on the heavy and massive covering: "To Mrs. Mary Whittaker, in memory of Thos. G. Smith." We inclined to the opinion that the presentation of Mrs. Whittaker's kind attentions to the late Judge Smith during his recent illness at her house, and will be presented on the consummation of the insensation of Momus. To-night the same bill will be repeated, and we know that, from the plan of the cast, all the going down of the sauns, though Lotta may not be a "Female Detective," she certainly will be "An Object of Interest."

PERSONAL.—C. H. Bryson, of Arkansas, Major E. Winston, Hon. Kenneth Rayner, of North Carolina, and Colonel R. M. Thorne, are in the city, registered at the Gayoso house.

Lake E. Wright and E. S. Griffin, Esqs., have been admitted to practice in the Law Court.

Mr. Miles O'Brien, Superintendent of the Southern Express company, is in the city on a flying visit.

Captain S. D. Thompson has been appointed Assistant Clerk in the Municipal Court.

B. E. Dyer has been admitted to practice as an attorney in the Law Court.

Sol Howell, the gentlemanly passenger agent of the Charleston road, arrived in the city yesterday, and registered at the Gayoso.

Mr. John Garland, of the Illinois Central railroad, arrived in town last night to attend a meeting by railroad men, to be held in a few days.

A FIGHT.—A row named Dubois, yesterday about nine o'clock, went into the stable of Colonel Forrest, on Jefferson street, and in a few words Colonel Forrest replied in the negative, when Dubois put his hand behind him as if to draw a weapon, striking Colonel Forrest at the same time that he intended to raise a row, and he had better prepare himself. Colonel Forrest responded by knocking him into the street, and drawing his pistol from his pocket, fired at Dubois, who fled. Dubois then went away, but about twelve o'clock returned with a large knife and a dense smoke was the consequence. The workmen soon smothered the flame with sand, but not before a large crowd had been attracted to the spot.

THE PRESIDENCY.

Wendell Phillips delivered a discourse in Philadelphia on the "Perils of the Hour." The following is a report of that portion of his philippic in which he made special reference to General Grant:

If we put into the Presidential chair the idea represented by Thad. Stevens (using his name merely as a counter) we shall gain ninety-five per cent. of what we have earned in this war; put George B. McClellan there, and we shall gain two and a half per cent; put there the idea that Ulysses Grant represents, and we shall get forty per cent. Mark me, I do not care anything for the names; I am merely using them as symbols of the ideas they represent; and my anxiety is to secure all that our blood and treasure have earned. The speaker touchingly referred to the return of a Boston regiment from the war, and after expressing his own emotions at the sight he said that the country owed it to those who had risked and those who had lost their lives in our struggle that nothing which they had earned be lost or jeopardized. The men who sleep in the swamps of the Chickahominy asked that a man be put in the White House who represented the idea for which they were willing to die. What man at this time more prominently than any other stood before the country? [A voice—"Grant."] General Ulysses Grant was that man to whom the speaker would most cheerfully accord all the praise and applause which that General was entitled to receive. He it was who said, "I will fight it out on this line if it insts forever;" and therefore was it unwise or unnecessary that we should ask of such a man, who never quitted the line he had once adopted, "Sir, on what line do you intend to carry the nation out?" He is the man of granite and iron. It was because he was granite and iron that he carried us safely through Virginia. Before you stamp the policy of the future in granite and iron, be sure you have the right instrument with which to stamp. Men say that Grant's merit is his reticence. Reticence! what is the meaning of reticence? The Pope in the Vatican is reticent, and the world bows at his feet. Aristocracy sits in the palaces of France, and is reticent; and the enslaved millions put their hands on their lips and their lips in the dust, and accept it. Reticent! It is the symbol of aristocracy; it is the corollary of education and wealth. But Democracy, the millions with the conscience, the millions with the ballot, tell them that they are to sit down at the feet of a man, and accept him as a leader because he does not condescend to tell them where he is going to lead them! [Applause.] Is that Democracy? Is that Republicanism? Is that the genius of our institutions? Was it not Calhoun who said that in this country there was nothing that could be kept secret that could be worth keeping secret, for the genius of our institutions is publicity. And now the American people boast that their leader does not condescend to tell them what he thinks! There may be two reasons why a man does not talk. One is that he has got nothing to say. That is not the timber out of which to make a President. Another is that he dare not tell what he thinks. But a man does not speak by his tongue. He speaks by every drop of his blood, by every motion of his body, by every emotion of his soul, and Grant has not made that record. General Grant is the only prominent man of the day whose acts have been followed up by a long chapter of apologies. He never takes a step but this whole American press sets out to tell you that it does not mean what it seems to mean.

The correspondent of the Tribune says "there was a great deal of enthusiasm among the audience when Phillips denounced Grant."

MISSISSIPPI ITEMS.

The Methodist Conference will meet at Natchez on December.

Major Fleming informs the Beacon that he has purchased the machinery and tools for the workshops at the Macon depot, and will soon put up temporary buildings.

On Tuesday the polls were duly opened at Rocky Mount, Kember county, and not a vote was cast.

In Lowndes county, at six precincts, where 1,778 were registered, the vote was 1,017, eight of whom were white.

A meeting of the citizens of Jackson was held on Thursday, for the purpose of forming an industrial organization, and, after appointing committees, adjourned to that evening.

The British bark Sea Gem brought to New Orleans, on the 7th, the monument sent from Scotland by the relatives of Colonel Robert A. Smith, of the Tenth Mississippi, intended, to be erected over his remains at Jackson. From a recent paragraph in the Clarion we apprehend that some obstacle has been interposed by the military authority to its erection.

The arrest of the editor of the Vicksburg Times was probably in consequence of an article showing that while by population the registered whites should elect forty-three and a half delegates out of one hundred, the apportionment was so made as to give them only twenty-nine and a half.

One white vote and one hundred and seventy-eight black were polled at DeSoto.

At three precincts in Jasper county 248 votes were polled—not a white man voting.

A letter from the Chairman of the Radical Executive State Committee, lately picked up in Macon and published in the Beacon, intimates a purpose to exclude from the Convention any Conservatives who may be elected.

In five precincts, in Monroe county, out of one thousand and eighty-two registered, four hundred and sixty-six voted. Except two precincts not ascertained, with forty-five votes, all were black.

Major Thomas Reed and Captain W. L. Harper are canvassing in the interest of the proposed Natchez and Jackson railroad.

Daniel W. Wilkinson, a prominent citizen of Brandon for more than thirty years, died on the 6th inst.

ALABAMA ITEMS.

The Choctaw Herald has passed into the hands of Mr. Wm. W. Wallace.

The Florence Journal describes a fish recently caught near Bailey's Springs, about sixteen inches long, having one head like a trout and another like a catfish.

The gin factory of Davis and Bozeman, fourteen miles north of Wetumpka, was burned on the night of the 1st instant.

Mr. Dentzler, of Dallas county, was fired at on Thursday night, on the same road upon which Colonel Harrison was murdered. The shot missed, and he fired several shots at his assailant, but in the dark could not learn whether any took effect.

The Selma Messenger learns from the superintendent of the Montgomery and West Point railroad that no more through bills of lading will be given to New York, owing to the inability of steamers to carry away cotton from Savannah and Charleston.

The Montgomery Mail publishes an extract from the Boston Post, showing that one Norris, delegate from Elmore county to the convention, was ejected from office in Maine for illegal charges.

Clairmont Lodge, in Sumner county, was plundered of its jewels in 1865. Most of them were bought by Robert Seymour, a dealer in silver-ware, at Syracuse, New York, who has restored them without charge, and added as a present elegant substitutes for such as were missing.

Brilliant Career and Sad End of a Confederate Boy.

From the Louisville Courier.

We find in the last number of the Winchester (Virginia) Times a brief biographical sketch of Captain George Burwell, of Clarke county, in this State, who recently perished in the Imperial army of Maximilian:

This gallant Virginian was only fourteen years of age when the late war for independence broke out, but despite the protests of his friends, enlisted in the Southern army, and bore himself throughout all its contests with distinguished gallantry and credit. After Lee's surrender he determined to leave the country, and with this purpose he went to Mexico, and tendered his sword to the Emperor Maximilian. In the Imperial service he displayed the same ardent valor which had marked his Confederate career, and he rose to the grade of Captain. In one of the almost numberless affairs which were fought in Maximilian's last campaign, young Burwell was mortally wounded, and breathed his last on the field of action.

There are but few heroes to whom are so applicable the words of Byron—

THE PULMONIC BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY AND WOOD NAPTHA

has earned for itself a world-wide reputation for the cure, by its timely use, of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Pain in the Side, Back or Chest, and all Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Liver, leading to Consumption, which is the cause of one-fifth of all the deaths that occur.

Prepared only by DR. WILLIAMS' Pulmonic Balsam of Wild Cherry and Wood Naptha. Each of all these ingredients are thoroughly tested before it is selected, and in the process of preparing the Balsam, although a beautiful transparent wine color, and so pleasant in its taste that the smallest child will love to use it in its effects it is instantaneous, allays each dose, clearly indicates the healing powerful agent by which it effects its cure, by allaying all the distressing symptoms which invariably accompany the first stages of disease for which this medicine is designed.

Prepared only by Dr. Williams' Pulmonic Balsam of Wild Cherry and Wood Naptha. Sold by all druggists throughout the South. Dealers can be supplied by the proprietor, DR. C. WILLIAMS, Memphis, Tenn., and sole agents for this medicine, to whom all orders must be addressed.
